Vol. 12 December 31st, 1940 No. 5

Cheerio—you Soldiers, Sailors and Airmen, who hail from our EATON ranks at Winnipeg and the western branches! Many of you have just spent your first Christmas in Britain. Others are in tiny Iceland, still others are on duty in tropical Jamaica, some are on the high seas, while many are scattered over the Dominion.

But wherever you are, our thoughts are with you at this holiday season. And so, as the tired old year shuffles off guard and the fresh new year marches to his post, we send you our warmest wishes for a bright and happy 1941! May it bring a conclusive victory to your arms!

Would that we could reach out and shake each of you by the hand! Since this is impossible, we've done the next best thing and assembled you in this little booklet for a friendly "inspection." And right here be it said that no corps commander ever inspected a finer body of men!

It is to be regretted that some of you marched away without having your photographs taken for our "soldiers' gallery." In such cases "Contacts" would appreciate receiving a photograph or snapshot for later publication.

"PAR-A-D-E, 'SHUN! Part II Orders"

In order that you may receive a copy of "Contacts" regularly, it is necessary that we have each man's complete address. In most cases the address you gave the Company on enlistment is no longer correct or complete. Postal authorities require full details of name, regimental number, section or company, regiment.

Don't Get "Writer's Cramp"!

When you drop into the canteen to write those letters back home, why not include one to your many friends here at EATON'S? "Contacts" is always glad to publish any letters from our fighting men that are of general interest.

And now Godspeed from us who stand united on the home front! We, too, realize our responsibilities, as in the words of General Sir Archibald Wavell on the eve of the British offensive in North Africa. "It must be the firm determination of every man to do everything that in him lies without thought of self to win this decisive victory. . . We have stouter hearts and greater traditions and we are fighting for a worthier cause."

Penny-a-Week Club Sends 2357 Miles of Cigarettes Overseas!

Sounds like a soldier's dream, but it's a fact! In its recent report, the Penny-a-Week Club of EATON'S, Winnipeg, announces that between March and December 12th of this year a total of 543,000 cigarettes were sent to our fighting men overseas. This impressive figure was made possible by your contributions of odd pennies—a total of $1,800.00 in nine months—dropped in those little cardboard boxes which are to be found in every department of Winnipeg store and mail order buildings. Laid end to end these cigarettes sent to our boys would stretch from Winnipeg to a point 179 miles out in the Atlantic Ocean!

Let's keep up the good work and see how soon we can span the continent! We give you a New Year's resolution—"More Smokes for Canada's Gallant Soldiers, Sailors and Airmen Overseas!"

* * * * *

"Thank you very much for your most welcome gift of cigarettes. They came at a time when they were most appreciated. We had been on duty at London for some two months and had just arrived in Scotland for a six weeks' rest period. It is so quiet and peaceful up here that you can sit down and enjoy a cigarette, which was almost impossible at London. Thanking you sincerely again, I remain, Geo. Mainer."

"I wish, on behalf of my husband, Lance-Corporal W. V. Huggett of the R.C.A.M.C., to thank the staff and the Penny-a-Week Club for the cigarettes that were sent to him overseas.

"Mrs. W Huggett, Ste. 501 Warwick Apts."

Mary Lent Him to England!

"Her name is Mary," began Private Clarence Newfield, sturdy laughing-eyed, brown-skinned Canadian infantryman from a crack Canadian regiment in Winnipeg.

"We went to school together," he said reminiscently in a soft attractive drawl. "I remember she had long pigtailed down her back and they danced up and down when she skipped along the sidewalk. I called her 'Jigsie' because of that. And I still do!

"We lived three doors apart, and were always together. But, it's a funny thing, I never dreamed Mary would be my real sweetheart when we grew up.

"I thought I would fall in love with a glamorous blonde—not the little girl next door!

"I was a carpenter before the war—and I loved it. Mary was, and still is, a sales-girl at EATON'S, the big store in Winnipeg.

"When we were walking out at night, as we always did, I just blurted out that I intended joining the army the next day if possible.

"She pleaded with me not to go. 'You've three brothers, she said, 'let them go. I love you too much to let you go so far away—as you'll have to.'

"I tried to explain to her that I knew I must go. Then she said, 'Loving someone means being unselfish—and giving them up if necessary doesn't it, Clarry?'

"All right. I won't give you up, but I'll lend you to England for awhile. Doing his bit for his country is every man's real ambition, I suppose. I can see it your way although I don't like it so much.'

"We went home. The next day I became a soldier. I was so proud—and the urge of the call to arms so strong I felt I could fight the whole enemy single handed!

"It wasn't long before Mary was so proud of me in my uniform that we walked nearly everywhere, instead of taking a car, so that she could hold my arm in front of her girl friends."

Fingering the picture from his wallet, Clarry said.

"She came to see me off. There were no tears. Her grey eyes were bright and shining, but she kept a smile on the whole time!

"As the train drew out she said to me, 'I'm a soldier's sweetheart now I'll keep smiling, darling, till you come back to me.'

"I write to 'Jigsie' pretty nearly seven times a week. I think of her working at EATON'S and saving up for the little home we're going to make together when this is all over and I go sailing home again.

"She tells me all she's getting in her 'love chest, as she calls it, and there's every scrap of my pay that can be spared going towards the same ambition.

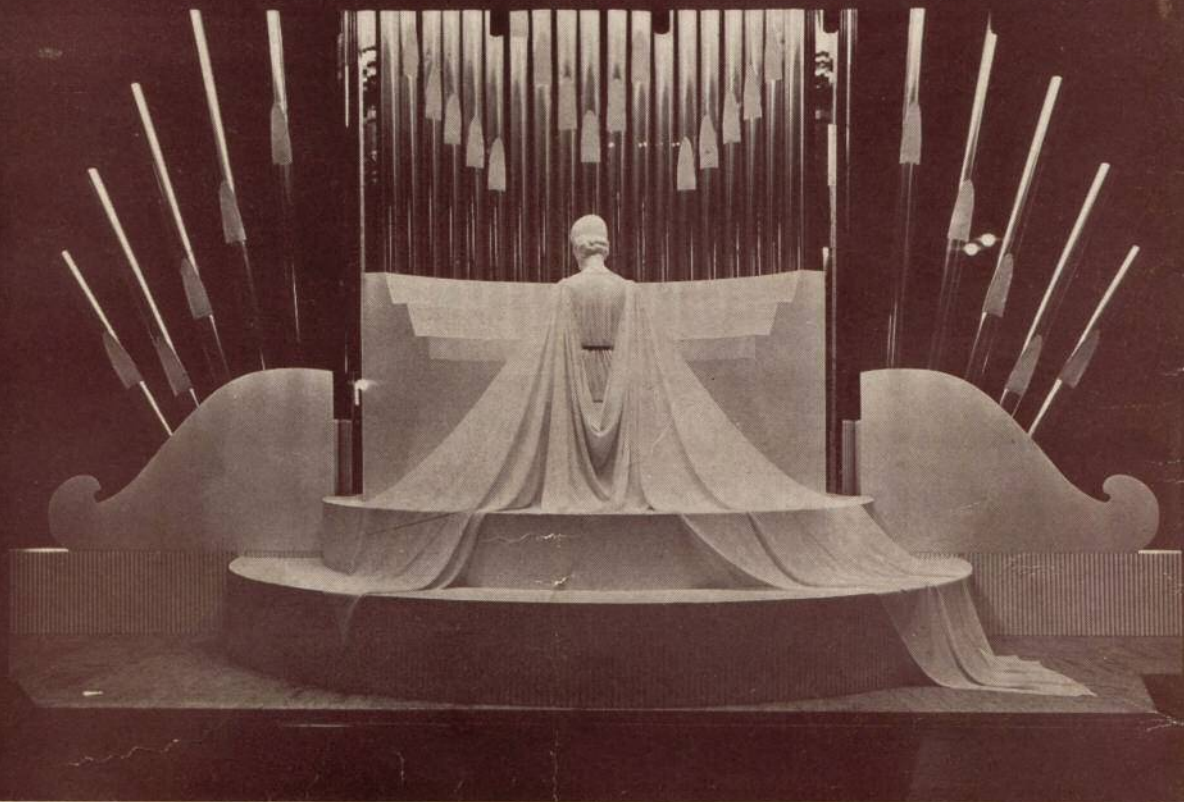

"There's my own folks in the little house on Toronto Street, Winnipeg. Mary spends a lot of time with mother.

"She wants to learn how to cook the same way—just to please me.

"The letters and parcels from home come in bunches of twenty at a time sometimes—but every one is precious.

"I'm fighting for the Old Country—but it's my twenty-year-old sweetheart I see all the time, with her lovely big grey eyes and pretty laughing mouth. And the words she whispered in my ears as we kissed good-bye!"

"Just a Song at Twilight"

The imaginative beauty of this pipe organ fantasy, which appeared in our Portage Avenue windows during the Christmas season, left a lingering impression on passersby. As they hurried home in the twilight hours, softly played organ melodies, which seemed to come from the golden pipes themselves, added beauty and realism to the scene. This effect was achieved by electrical transcription and amplifiers. In a similar manner the main floor of the store was flooded with organ music at intervals during the holiday shopping season. And again the illusion of music pealing from golden organ pipes which formed the store's altogether lovely Christmas decorations.
