Obtain new employment--typewriter service man. Apprenticeship with Remington Rand.

1398 Cannon St. E., Hamilton, Ontario. 5-2152.

A clean-cut, neat young man of slender build and good general appearance, who expresses himself in a pleasant and friendly manner. Has average learning ability. Occupational record includes a period of 2½ years as stock room clerk with Remington Rand. Service history as Coder suggests suitability for office work including, as does experience in filing and typing and in general indicating ability to work in a careful, ~~and~~ orderly and accurate manner and give sustained attention to details. In the service, he appears to have been a very reliable and efficient worker. Main interest, at present, appears to be to obtain employment and training in the servicing of typewriters. This interest is derived from his experience in stockroom work. In view of his interest, knowledge of typewriter parts, intelligence, and manner, seems suitable for typewriter or business machines service man. Might be employed also in repair work in the plant.

New employment with on-the-job training, service man, Typewriter Co. Company.

1. New employment with on-the-job training, service man, business machines company.
2. New employment with on-the-job training, repairing or assembling of typewriter, business machines.
3. New employment with necessary training--office work.
